CHRISTMAS SUPPER

This year the Christmas Supper will be a hot food buffet, for all members and their partners, free of charge.

The meal will be at the Causeway Suite on Tuesday 4th December at 7:30 sharp. There will be No Meeting as we are all going out for a relaxing evening and to enjoy ourselves, without the hassle of other business.

Guests are welcome at a price of £14.00 Per/Person.

Please fill in the entry form as soon as possible as Richard needs to know the numbers for the hotel at this busy time of year.

Closing date for entries is Tuesday 30th November 2012, no late entries will be accepted, and entries must be complete with a cheque for any additional guests.

Any contributions from the members to the ballot would be appreciated

All Entry forms are available from the Club web site!: www.eaovc.co.uk/events

REPORTS FROM THE RUNS

End of Season Run

Sunday 14th October saw 21 cars and 49 people gather at Wetherspoons in Carrickfergus for a wonderful breakfast, just the thing to start another great event Around 11.30 am we left Carrickfergus and travelled via Woodburn along country roads to Nutts Corner and on through Glenavy until we reached Long Kesh.

On entry to the compound after a short break we met a guide who escorted us to the hangers which are listed buildings.

There we saw a large number of displays relating to Ulster Aviation, from the fire engines, through underground bunkers to bombers and even a motorised hang glider, which was created to re-enact Harry Fergusons first flight at Newcastle.

Later in the afternoon we left Long Kesh and took the short route via the motorway and west link to Whitehead Golf Club where we had an excellent meal .

Patrick thanked David and his wife for all the effort that they had put into organising yet another great David Frazer event.

FUEL NEWS

Introduction of E10 Petrol

The FBHVC and member clubs have previously been led to believe that the widespread introduction of E10 fuel was unlikely before 2015. However, following a recent stakeholder meeting at the Department for Transport, it does seem that this has changed and E10 could be with us as early as 2013.

The BSI committee (the Federation has a representative on this committee) is working on the E10 fuel specification for the UK which is expected to be in place by the end of 2012 and fuel retailers are to be given guidance over the introduction of E10 petrol. There is currently no planned national roll-out for E10 and not all fuel terminals have ethanol blending facilities, so a piecemeal introduction of E10 can be expected.

A DFT vehicle compatibility working group will be compiling a list of modern E10 compatible vehicles and this should be in place by early September. There is also a working group subset which is concerned with classic or historic vehicles, including motorcycles, to which the Federation is invited.

We are already well aware that E10 is not suitable for historic vehicles, unless steps have been taken to proof fuel systems for this blend. Members should be aware that E10 may start to penetrate the UK retail fuel market early in 2013, and they should avoid it unless they have adopted measures to ensure compatibility with E10 petrol. Pumps selling this fuel will be clearly labelled E10, and also will carry a warning message.

It should also be noted that super grade petrol will continue to be the 'protection grade' and will not have more than 5% ethanol.

2013 Charity: Alzheimer's Society

Alzheimer's disease is a disease of the brain, and it robs people of their lives. At the moment, although there are some treatments, there is no cure. 1 in 3 people over 65 in the UK will die with dementia – this is a cause that will be close to the hearts of many of your members and supporters.

Alzheimer's Society is the leading care and research charity for people with dementia and their carers. We provide information, support services, campaign for fairer treatment and better care, and invest in research. We are the only charity in the UK to do all this. At the moment, we help over 30,000 people a week through our network of services – but dementia is a growing problem, and we need to do more.

We currently have 14 service centres across Northern Ireland where we employ Dementia Support Workers to carry out our vital work in the community. The range of services that we currently provide in Northern Ireland include: a Community Outreach Service, Dementia Support meetings, Carer Support meetings, information programmes, Dementia Cafés, Activity Groups, Carer's Outings and the Alzheimer's Society helpline based in our Belfast office.

It is estimated in Northern Ireland there are currently 18,300 people living with dementia. This is expected to treble by 2051. We rely on voluntary donations, so every single pound donated will help fund our charity's vital work. Our vision is of a radically improved world for people with dementia and to ensure that no one goes through dementia alone.

By choosing to support the Alzheimer's Society, you will be helping thousands of families affected by dementia. Your support will help us to raise awareness, reduce stigma, and help raise funds to support vital local services. You can help ensure that your members and supporters affected by dementia get the help and support they need.

30 years ago cancer was the silent killer, now it can be beaten. Working together we can do the same for dementia.
